DC Capital Partners, LLC (“DC Capital”) is a private investment firm that makes control equity investments in middle market companies providing differentiated and innovative services and solutions in the Government Services and Engineering and Consulting Services markets. DC Capital’s investment strategy emphasizes certain sectors that it believes offer the most compelling growth opportunities for investment.

DC Capital creates value in its investments by taking an active role in establishing strategy and closely monitoring management’s performance while remaining passive in management’s tactical execution of that strategy. These three pillars underlie the investment process, philosophy, and decision-making that has resulted in our consistent investment success; a process that is systematic, disciplined, and repeatable. The final pillar, Strategic Principles, is consistently followed throughout the entire investment process:

I. Vision
Develop a clear, concise vision for the company’s strategic direction and ensure that it is clearly communicated to all levels of the organization.

II. People
Attract, train, motivate, and retain the best people by providing them with advancement opportunities, professional challenges, and a culture that fosters respect and professional development.

III. Communication
